

I Choose Joy!

for the joy of the Lord is my strength in home, in family, in homeschool

Thanks for considering a partnership with I Choose Joy! My niche is mostly Christian homeschooling moms. I love to post on what we're doing in my big and busy family—homeschooling, homemaking, parenting, etc. My specialty is music teaching and creating lesson plans to share. (I have another website dedicated to music in the homeschool at MusicinOurHomeschool.com.) At I Choose Joy! I write about favorite homeschooling materials, tutorials for making recipes and crafts, and great field trip ideas including our popular yearly road trips. I also post several book, curriculum, and/or product reviews every month, some with giveaways. I started a weekly link party in February 2013 that brings in bloggers who post about "From House to Home." All posts on I Choose Joy! are meant to be honoring to the Lord.

My name is Gena Mayo. I am an experienced blogger with over 10 years experience. I post at least 4 times weekly and interact on social media daily. I have 8 children, ranging in age from 4-15 and have homeschooled them all from the beginning.
